

Walk, glamp, relax on the Norfolk coast:

New glamping and walking holidays launched by MarGins

Walking is the perfect way to experience the Norfolk Coast, an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Now a new holiday firm, MarGins, has launched a selection of ‘walking and glamping’ holidays that will appeal to both dedicated trekkers and casual tourists looking for something a bit different.

There are three holiday options: a three day, 38 mile walk from Cromer to Hopton-on-Sea; a four day, 46-miler from Hunstanton to Cromer; and the full 84 miles of the Norfolk Coast Path from Hunstanton to the Suffolk border, taking six days.

The glamping accommodation is set up each day on established camp sites situated right on the Norfolk Coast Path, with luggage being transferred to the next destination each day. The accommodation delivers a luxurious camping experience, with a sturdy tent, comfy chairs and padded camp beds with soft, cosy duvets. Plus, MarGins supplies a hamper of local Norfolk produce each day for breakfast, and can cater for any special dietary requirements.

“We’ve designed the routes to appeal to all levels of walker,” says MarGins co-founder Ginny Wilson-North. “Ramblers and experienced trekkers can stick to the route or go further by checking out some of the many ‘off-piste’ paths. The less experienced can do as much or as little walking as they like – and even pop on the coastal hopper bus if they want a rest.

“One thing’s for sure - all of them are going to have the time to relax and take in the breathtaking coastline and all it has to offer.”

Gourmets and foodies can visit some of the many pubs, restaurants and fine dining eateries on or just off the Norfolk Coast Path, and sample the excellent sea food or there are basic cooking facilities in the tents to cook your own food.

“The Norfolk coast is blessed with some of the most beautiful beaches in Britain,” says Ginny. “For anyone interested in wildlife there are world-renowned reserves all along the coast. It’s the perfect place for walking and glamping – especially when it’s relaxed and hassle-free”

“To top it all off, you can also walk with your pooch as MarGins is very dog friendly and will supply everything you need – except the dog!”
